ALLIES STOP MASSED ATTACKS BY REDS

U.S. Grain Exports to Continue, Despite Prospects for Short Crops

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON, May 17—(P)—The United States is going right ahead with plans for export of vast quantities of grain during the coming marketing season despite poor crop prospects in some areas. The Agriculture Department has set up an export program calling for the shipment of about 350-

000,000 bushels of wheat during the marketing year beginning July 1. This quantity compares with estimates that exports will total about 330,000,000 bushels for the current marketing year. This program could be changed, however, should crop developments turn less favorable than now indicated, officials said. At present, it appears that the wheat crop may be the smallest since 1943. However, the situation is helped by the fact that large reserves stored under farm price programs still exist. It is too early to determine how corn and other grain crops may turn out. The government already has allocated 59,300,000 bushels of wheat and other grains for export in July, the first month of the new marketing year. The department said plans are being made for even larger shipments in August. Meanwhile, the government disclosed that India will receive more U. S. grain in July than any other country, a total of nearly 10,000,- 000 bushels. The department said India will have bought for cash this marketing year a total of about 70,000,000 bushels of American grain. The Senate yesterday approved an administration-sponsored bill which would grant India an additional 2,000,000 tons or about 75,000,000 bushels on a loan basis.

The House takes up a similar bill next Tuesday. About 250,000,000 bushels of wheat sold for export this marketing year was priced at about $1.80 a bushel, or about 75 cents a bushel under the domestic price. This was shipped under terms of an international wheat agreement which also set the selling price.

The price difference was paid by the government in the form of an export subsidy. The export of U. S. grain has been so heavy in recent months that the government has found it necessary to "break out" vessels from its so-called "mothball fleet" or World War II boats to help carry it.

Heavy Losses Fail to Halt Enemy Assault

Censored Reports Indicate Drive Is Aimed at Center

By OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO, May 17—(AP)—Waves of attacking Chinese Reds failed today to break through the main United Nations defense line.

The Chinese smashed a hole in South Korean ranks and streamed through, but Allied troops rushed up and plugged the gap by nightfall.

Waves of Chinese stormed U. S. positions. But every time the Americans were pushed off a hill they counterattacked to recapture the high ground.

The actions were along the east-central front, hottest sector of the 75 mile wide battleground. Field dispatches said 96,000 Chinese were attacking in the 23 mile length of the east central sector in the opening stages of an all-out Communist offensive.

Another 25,000 Reds were reported gathering strength on the Pukhan valley invasion route of the west central sector. Slithering Chinese had crept close to American lines at the junction of the Han and Pukhan rivers despite ceaseless aerial and artillery punishment.

Far to the west erupting attacks and mounting pressure threatened a major advance toward Seoul might be tried later. All along the line Red reserves were packed deep behind the bugle blowing assault units.

Losses Are Ignored
Front line officers said Red strategy appeared to be to hit the center of the line regardless of losses.

Communists attacked relentlessly. UN planes, artillery and mine fields took a heavy toll.

"We are killing them by the thousands," a UN air officer said. Artillery batteries fired at a record pace. "We are not firing except at groups of 100 or more," an artilleryman said.

The U. S. Eighth Army estimated Communist casualties Wednesday at 3,582. The Fifth Air Force said it added 850 Thursday in 617 combat strikes before 6 P. M.

Heavy fighting was on a 25-mile sector of the east-central front from Chunchon to Inje.

The Chinese breakthrough was south of Inje, north of the 38th parallel. Two South Korean divisions were reported retreating before the Red onslaught. Elements of two Chinese regiments had slipped through the gap in the Republican ranks.

Reports Censored
Every field dispatch referring to the breakthrough was heavily censored. AP Correspondent William C. Barnard on the east-central front reported the break exposed the flanks of other Republican units. He said these troops were gravely threatened.

South Koreans to the west gave ground under heavy pressure. Still farther southeast, in the neighborhood of Chunchon, Americans generally held their positions. In one instance U. S. troops counterattacked.

American lines were dented in spots. AP Correspondent John Randolph reported action in the west had not reached the proportions of a major offensive. He said it appeared to be a determined effort to gain control of the 10 to 15 mile wide no-man's-land arching north of Seoul.

It did not approach the scale of fighting in the east which spread 65 miles from the Sea of Japan to Kapyong, 32 miles northeast of Seoul. Two Chinese regiments ran into a mine field Wednesday night trying to slip through Allied lines east of Chunchon. They set off the mines so fast it sounded like the roar of artillery.

An American colonel reported only 40 Chinese got through the minefield.

Bradley's Silence On Private Talks Upheld by Probers

Inquiry into Ouster of MacArthur Becoming More Snarled - - Wrangle Threatens To Break Out in Senate

WASHINGTON, May 17—(AP)—Senate investigators upheld today the refusal of Gen. Omar N. Bradley to testify about President Truman's private talks with his advisers on firing Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn) said the vote was 18 to 8. The action sustained a decision by Senator Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the joint armed services and foreign relations committee, that Bradley had a right to keep silent on the talks.

Bradley declined on Tuesday to tell the committee, in response to questions by Senator Wiley (R-Wis), what was said at a White House conference April 6 which led to the president's dismissal of MacArthur as Pacific commander on April 11.

A vote to overturn Russell's ruling could have led to a formal demand that Bradley answer the questions or face possible charges of contempt of Congress.

President Lashes Out
While the senators were settling this matter, President Truman put in some licks for his point of view in the controversy with MacArthur over Korean war strategy.

In a speech to a national conference on citizenship, the president lashed out at "some senators and some other people" who he said would have this country "go for an all-out war in China all by ourselves."

His statement, in relation to other remarks, made it plain he had reference in particular to MacArthur and Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

For two days, the Senate MacArthur inquiry had been stymied by the argument over what attitude should be taken toward the refusal by Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, to tell who said what to whom at the April 6 White House meeting.

'Politics Charged'
Sharp words and charges of playing politics came into the debate. Some Republicans insisted the whole course of the inquiry into MacArthur's dismissal and the differences over Far Eastern policy would be affected.

They indicated particular concern that Secretary of State Acheson, who is to be a witness later, might refuse to answer many questions on the ground they involved his confidential relations with the president.

By and large, the argument of those upholding Russell's decision was that the constitution's division of powers between Congress and the executive department denied to Congress the right to demand "confidential information" the president.

Wiley disagreed with the legal argument and contended the inquiry panel had a right to know about the talks at the White House meeting which he said had the purpose "to get MacArthur--to lay a basis for his removal."

Back to Inquiry
The decision clears the way for the committee to go back to actual hearings. There had been talk of a session Friday with either Admiral Forrest P. Sherman or Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg as the witness. They are the chiefs of staff members for the navy and air force, respectively.

But Russell announced he had decided not to have another hearing session until Monday when Bradley will return to the stand. Under Senate rules, Wiley could carry his fight on the Bradley testimony issue to the Senate itself and ask a vote there on whether Russell had ruled correctly.

Wiley told reporters he won't do that, but added: "there will be plenty of argument in the Senate about this."

It leaped several fences and appeared to be traveling rather than feeding as it went.

Stolen Hearse Ride Was Almost His Last

BALTIMORE, May 17—(AP)—Harry B. Jones, 35, explained to the judge he swiped a hearse "to see how the thing rode before I died."

He almost got both answers at the same time. Jones wrecked the hearse in a collision at a street intersection, but escaped unhurt.

Judge S. Ralph Warnke gave him three years in prison to recall the experience.

Shortage of Gas Here Is Feared

Utilities Commission Clamps on Freeze

Although there are no details yet, indications today were that no more new or conversion gas burners would be put in homes here for some time.

Those indications were based on a complete freeze on installations ordered by the state Utilities Commission for six gas companies and continued partial freezes for four others.

Among the six under the complete freeze were the Dayton Power & Light Co., which serves the Washington C. H. area, and the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., on which the D. P. & L. depends for gas.

The Utilities Commission order also painted a grim picture for next winter for present users. It said that the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. deficiency indicates that its 270,000 space heating customers might be critically short of gas on a peak day during the coming heating season.

Officials of the D. P. & L. here have maintained a strict "no comment" policy ever since the question was taken up by the Utilities Commission. Neither A. E. Weatherly, manager of the concern here, nor F. E. Hill, a former manager here and now a district executive would discuss the situation. They explained they did not want to appear to be influencing public opinion while the case is under consideration. They even declined to give the number of new installations here since central heating was abandoned last year.

Order's Coverage
Complete freezes on new heating units were placed against the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Dayton Power and Light Co., Natural Gas Co. of West Virginia, Portsmouth Gas Co., United Fuel Gas Co., and the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co.

Existing regulations calling for partial freezes (one conversion to each new construction) were retained in effect for the East Ohio Gas Co., The National Gas and Oil Corp., Newark Consumers Gas Co., and the Toledo Edison Co.

At the same time the commission ordered a public hearing for July 9 in the matter of those natural gas companies in Ohio which are either subsidiaries of Columbia Gas System Inc., or entirely supplied at wholesale by subsidiaries of that system, or other natural gas companies which may desire to present further evidence.

The commission said the supply of the East Ohio Gas Co. is such that it must be restricted to new construction and a like number of conversion units.

It said it found it necessary to completely freeze the Dayton Power & Light Co. because that concern depends entirely upon the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. for its supply. The commission said it was necessary to freeze the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. because, except for some manufactured gas, it depends on the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and the Central Kentucky Gas Co., both of which are subsidiaries of the Columbia Gas System Inc.

No Other Alternative
In regard to the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. the commission said:

"We are reluctant to permit a public utility to escape its obligations. However, we feel that at this time there is no other alternative but to permit this freeze, and to review the situation frequently, so that if by any chance the supply problem becomes better, then the restrictions can be removed."

"Evidence introduced at the Washington hearings indicated that during the 1951-52 heating season the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. largest gas distributor in Ohio, will be short 273,800,000 cubic feet on a peak day."

"The Columbia system, of which the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. is a subsidiary, will be short a total of 671,300,000 (5.) cubic feet on a peak day. The system is especially critical because the gas supply of the Columbia system is pooled so that it can be drawn upon by any one state if the supply permits. Different View On Beef Outlook

Rollback of Prices Causes Confusion

WASHINGTON, May 17—(P)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said today the government's recent price ceiling rollback on cattle may put more beef on dinner tables over the next year or two, but less three to five years hence.

This forecast was given in a statement the secretary prepared for the House agriculture committee. The committee had asked for information from the department in connection with its study of the rollback order.

Brannan's prediction that the price order might have a discouraging effect on the long-range production picture for cattle was a slight modification from testimony he gave before the Senate banking committee yesterday. He said then that the rollback would not "jeopardize production."

In today's statement, Brannan qualified his prediction with the words "it is too early to be sure of the answer, and we shall have (Please turn to Page Twenty)

Civilian Steel Use Ordered Cut Back

WASHINGTON, May 17—(P)—The government today ordered steel mills to set aside sharply increased quantities of steel products for July delivery on defense orders.

In telegrams, the National Production Authority notified iron and steel producers that "an even larger share" of their output may be reserved for priority buyers in August to meet mounting defense demands.

The action apparently is part of a move to make deeper cuts in civilian use of steel and other strategic metals later this summer. Plans for that cutback will be unfolded to auto makers and other producers in 57 industries at a meeting here tomorrow.

'Scientist X' Is Set Free

WASHINGTON, May 17—(P)—Dr. Joseph W. Weinberg, the "Scientist X" who figured in investigations of atomic spying, was freed today of contempt of court charges.

Four contempt charges against the scientist were thrown out by U. S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff.

The judge ruled Weinberg had a right to refuse to answer questions put to him by a federal grand jury on the ground answers might tend to incriminate him.

The contempt charges were lodged against the scientist by Judge Holtzoff last Friday when Weinberg repeated, in open court, his refusal to answer questions before a grand jury.

WASHINGTON, May 17—(P)—The Senate crime investigating committee will consider the request of Rep. Charles H. Elston (R-Ohio) for an inquiry into a reported narcotics ring in southwestern Ohio. Chairman O'Connor (D-Md) said yesterday.

President in Fightin' Mood

MacArthur-Taft War Policy Is Target of Truman Attack

WASHINGTON, May 17—(P)—President Truman lashed out today at Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Republican Senator Taft today for seeking, as the president put it, to have this country "go for an all-out war in China all by ourselves."

Mr. Truman virtually discarded a written speech prepared for the national conference on citizenship. He told his audience that one week of all-out war would cost this country "10 to 20 times" what it is costing to rearm and contain the fighting in Korea.

"We must have friends in this troubled world," the president extemporized. "Some senators and some other people would have us go it alone."

This was an indirect reference to testimony by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whom he ousted from the Far Eastern commands last month.

Mr. Truman, appealing for strengthened price and rent control legislation, said there was no question that Congress will vote a two-year extension of controls expiring June 30.

He said the decisions he and Congress will make on this, on defense rearming and on foreign aid "ought to be above petty politics, because the welfare of the country depends on them."

Mr. Truman was greeted with standing applause as he entered the presidential room of the Hotel Statler with Mrs. Truman.

He pleaded for consumers to put pressure on Congress for (Please turn to Page Twenty)

Ohio Redistricting Bill Near Legislature Vote

COLUMBUS, May 17—(P)—A bill to change Ohio's congressional districts for the first time in 38 years was ready for a vote in the House of Representatives today.

The House elections committee recommended its passage, with only four amendments, last night. Whether it can weather the session-end storm remains to be seen.

The House elections committee recommended passage of a subcommittee's compromise bill last night after only one hearing.

Amendments moved Lake County into the 22nd district with southwestern Cuyahoga County; Seneca County into the 8th district instead of the 13th; restored Logan and Union Counties to the 7th district along with the eastern half of Butler County--including Middletown--and put the western half of Butler County--including Hamilton--in the 4th district.

The committee's 15-0 recommendation for passage of the redistricting bill came several hours after the Senate reversed itself long enough to kill off dependency allowances in a bill revising the Unemployment Compensation law.

Jobs Benefits

The Senate approved Tuesday an industry-sponsored bill to increase jobless benefit payments from $25 to $30 a week. And, by amendment, the bill provided for a continuation of dependency allowances of $2.50 for each child of the unemployed worker up to a maximum of $5.

The Senate reconsidered the bill, stripped it of dependency allowances, then passed it all over again. The measure goes to the House.

The dependency allowances were approved Tuesday on a 17-16 vote. They were killed yesterday 19-14. Sens. Joseph Nutt (R-Cuyahoga), George McCandless (R-Butler) and I. E. Baker (R-Montgomery) were the senators who changed their votes to sustain the Republican leadership's drive for deletion of the dependency allowances.

After the dependency amendment was killed, the bill was re-passed 20-13.

Alimony for Husbands

The Senate action came as the House was approving a bill which lets husbands ask for alimony. The alimony provision was among six major changes in Ohio's marriage and divorce laws approved by the House 108-6. The bill must go back to the Senate for approval of House changes.

Other major changes:

Extend for 30 to 90 days the period of evidence required before divorce actions can be filed; Require divorced applicants for marriage licenses to say where they were divorced and how many children resulted from the previous marriage; Eliminate the three-year time limit on habitual drunkenness as grounds for divorce; and Excludes the natural parents in favor of foster parents as heirs of (Please turn to Page Two)

He Took No Chances With Lost Suitcase

CLEVELAND, May 17—(P)—Clifford Moritz not only returned a lost suitcase to the owner--he drove 40 miles to do it.

The bag was lost in Union Terminal here by Mrs. Richard Langford of Knoxville, Tenn. She was going to Akron to visit her sick father and had written his address on the suitcase.

Moritz found the bag and delivered it in person to the father's home.

Staunton Man Dies of Wound

Edwin Boyer Found Dead at Farm Home

The man whom neighbors of the Staunton community helped recently in getting his crops planted was dead today of a bullet wound through his head.

His name is Edwin N. Boyer, 51. He lived on the Hidy Road a mile southeast of Staunton, with his mother, Mrs. Rosetta Boyer.

Mrs. Boyer said she thought her son killed himself while cleaning his gun, a vicious looking weapon with a 16-inch barrel. A 22 calibre bullet was fired from it. Sheriff Orland Hays found the shell still in the chamber.

She said her son appeared in "good spirits" during the morning and apparently would have no cause to take his own life.

On May 2, neighbors of Boyer's came to his help after he was confined to a hospital in Xenia from an injury which resulted when a thorn pierced his eye while he was helping a friend plow.

The neighbors employed 17 tractors to get a 40-acre field on the Boyer farm plowed and planted in corn.

Mrs. Boyer said she discovered her son slumped over in a pantry off the kitchen about 12 noon Thursday. The Gerstner ambulance and Dr. J. H. Persinger were summoned.

Boyer died enroute to Memorial Hospital. Dr. Persinger was able to give him a shot while he was in the ambulance, but he failed to rally.

He operated a farm in the Staunton community for a number of years.

This was the second time tragedy struck the Boyer family. About 20 years ago, Estel Boyer, a brother of Edwin Boyer, was killed when his parachute failed to open when he made an exhibition jump from a plane over the Scott farm just west of the Fairground.

His family was in the crowd, when he plummeted to the ground as he struggled vainly to pull the rip cord of his chute.

He is survived by his mother and one sister, Mrs. Helen Smith of Victoria, British Columbia, Canada.

Funeral arrangements, in charge of the Gerstner Funeral Home, will be announced later.

Three-car Accident Occurs Near Etna

NEWARK, May 17—(AP)—A Monroe County youth was killed, and three Columbus teen-agers were injured today in a three-car accident on U. S. Route 40, a mile and a half east of Etna (Licking County).

Killed was Walter Crawford, 18, of Sardis. David Pauly, 19, Rose Brown, 15, and Dorothy Miller, 17, all of Columbus, were injured.

Police said Crawford's auto attempted to pass a truck and met an auto driven by Pauly. Both autos collided with the truck.

an adopted child's estate. The bill originally included incurable insanity as grounds for divorce. That provision was eliminated, however, before the House acted.

Primary Elections

The House completed legislative action on a Senate bill to legalize May primary elections held by villages that became cities on the basis of the 1950 census. Sponsors said it was needed to make it unnecessary for cities which nominated candidates in May to hold similar elections again.

If a village reaches 5,000 population, it becomes a city. The official count is the federal census. Official figures on the 1950 census are expected in July, but some villages-to-be-cities have acted on preliminary figures and already have held city primary elections. House approval, 116-2, completed legislative approval of those elections.

The House approved and sent to the Senate a bill to allow villages which don't want to become cities to exclude non-resident college students from the total of their residents. It affects principally Oxford and Oberlin which would become cities under the 1950 census unless college students at Miami University and Oberlin College are not included in the villages' population count. The vote was 114-0.

The House taxation committee sent to the House floor with a recommendation for passage a bill to give local government a $36,000,000 subsidy for operations in the next two years. The amount includes a $6,000,000 "windfall" split of state surplus funds in the last two years. The cities wanted the $6,000,000 in addition to the $36,000,000.

system as great as it is, and if a peak day is experienced in the Columbia system, such as was experienced in the past heating season, the possibility of drawing on this pool is not good.

The commission said the Ohio Fuel Gas Company's deficiency indicates that its 270,000 space heaters customers might be "critically short of gas on a peak day the coming heating season.

It is estimated that each space heating customer furnishes heating for from four to four and one-half persons, and the commission said that well over a million people now being served by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. might suffer from a lack of heating in the coming winter.

This critical shortage, the commission said, might also arise among the customers of the Natural Gas companies which are supplied wholesale by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

A commission spokesman said even if all industrial and commercial customers of Ohio Fuel Gas were completely cut off on a peak day, residential customers might be still be short 49,200,000 cubic feet.

CHICAGO, May 17—(AP)—Wheat and corn moved up in active dealings on the Board of Trade today, responding to the Agriculture Department's overnight allocation of large grain exports for July.

The upward trend was interrupted by a brief, but sharp, selling wave, when dumped wheat and other cereals under the previous close.

Soybean gains were relatively small and oats were hardly able to get ahead at all.

No Quick Drop In Food Prices Expected

A Washington C. H. woman busily engaged in filling her market basket in an up-town store this week, remarked to another shopper nearby that it was too bad consumers had to keep adding to their weekly supply budget but there seemed to be nothing they could do about it.

The women food shoppers in this city and county, unhappy for many a past month over inflationary prices, see but little hope of any change ahead. The same condition is reported over most of the country.

The same thing pertains to nearly all other lines of merchandise with small promise of government controls bringing much help.

If a real effort had been made about a year ago, when Congress placed in President Truman's hands the power to take prompt steps to control inflation and hold prices and wages to scales at that time, the people were in a better mood to go along with the idea. But an election was approaching and, of course, the politically minded administration people thought that a greater majority favoring the administration might be chosen in Congress. They didn't want to endanger their chances by letting price control come up at that time.

Right now indications are that food prices will remain at high levels during the months ahead. The federal Department of Agriculture indicates that consumers might as well become resigned to the situation.

Retail food prices during the first quarter of this year averaged 15 percent higher than a year ago, and the department says there is no prospect of a change in the international situation which would make for reductions. Supplies are described as adequate both at home and abroad.

As for meat, Michael Di Salle, director of the Office of Price Stabilization, told a group of southwestern cattlemen that reduction in retail prices of beef will not be forthcoming until October at least, although a rollback order has gone into effect. DiSalle admitted that the program would put some of those in the meat industry out of business—usual result when the government starts monkeying with the nation's economy. There is talk of meat shortage and black markets.

Engaged now in the more serious business of national defense, Congress has done little to meet a rising inflation. There is no attempt at government economy or move to abolish the 40-hour week, the two steps which might halt inflation. Most observers are taking a realistic view when they predict food prices will remain at a high level in the immediate future.

More Taxes

The increase in income taxes approved by the House Ways and Means Committee is big enough to bear heavily upon citizens in all tax brackets. Even married persons with net incomes as low as $1,500 will feel its effects.

It is held extremely unlikely, however, that Congress will authorize tax increases as great as those advocated by Mr. Truman. Many congressmen are not convinced taxes should be boosted every few months while the government does nothing to reduce waste and extravagance in Washington, currently at an all time high.

The pro-Communist premier of India ruined the Washington administration's chances of persuading Congress to give India 2,000,000 tons of wheat by announcing there isn't more famine than usual in his country.

Season is here when it is difficult to decide whether the dandelions in the front yard or the vegetable in the rear should receive first attention.

Question of Land War in Asia

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, May 16 —(AP)—Will America be forced to fight a great land war in Asia—in the near or far future?

It is the belief of many army ground commanders in Korea the American army should avoid an all-out war in that area if it is possible to do so.

"The big lesson we have learned here," one veteran officer told me, "is not to get too deeply involved in this part of the world in ground warfare. It isn't for us."

His argument was that the continent of Asia favored the enemy method of infantry battle and hindered ours. It gives the other side every advantage. It holds none for us.

This officer—he had held a high staff rank in the European war—felt that to win an Asiatic victory through land battles would cost more blood than the American nation would spend.

"It would bleed us dry," he said. "The enemy has too much potential manpower and too much landscape. Taking lands a cape doesn't win a war—as Napoleon and Hitler found out in their marches on Moscow. You have to destroy the enemy, his industry—and his ability to resist."

He pointed out that Europe's fine road network had enabled the American army in the last war to utilize its superior mobility and mechanized firepower. Once our tanks and mobile guns had broken through the enemy's forward crust they could race at will through his rear lines and chop them up.

"Asia doesn't have those roads," he said. "And our infantry is reduced to the minimum. That means our infantry and their infantry would have to slug it out too much on a rifle to rifle basis."

He felt that even tactical control of the air would be insufficient to overcome this handicap.

"It is too expensive for us even if we killed five men to every one we lost," he said. "The oriental people simply don't regard human life the way we do."

Recently I received a letter from another veteran commander of the Korean campaign.

"The Korean war continues to be an enigma to me," he said. "It has become inexplicable to me not because of its see-saw character or its political implications—I have neither the responsibility for nor interest in the diplomatic significance of Korea.

"What I would like to understand is why we have suffered so many casualties against an enemy who is not, and never has been, as formidable as the Jap or the German of World War II. I am not at all satisfied that the so-called Chinese 'human sea' mass attacks can destroy a well-supplied, adequately mechanized defender. Nor do I believe that Napoleonic 'mass attack' tactics have replaced again the flexible, thin-line attack of small, coordinated units.

"In other words, one machine-gunner (even if his morale is not of the best) can raise havoc with an attacker who is advancing in mass without adequate artillery and air-support."

Inability to make a shoulder-to-shoulder defense or attack in Korea would be multiplied if American infantry had to fight on continental Asia. That's why many experienced ground commanders believe if a third world war breaks out the United States should mass its land troops in an arena where they are more likely to win at least cost.

FDR's Theory of Good and Bad

By George Sokolsky

Franklin D. Roosevelt tried to establish the doctrine that there are good countries and bad; that there are good dictators and bad ones. Stalin was a good dictator; Hitler and Franco were bad dictators. Chiang Kai-Shek, during part of this period, was a good dictator; then he became corrupt.

The doctrine of perfection which Roosevelt applied aboard, neither he nor Harry Truman applied in the United States or among the countries which we supported with our largesse. The Kefauver investigation surely disclosed numerous corruptions in our own country, to say nothing of the existence of a black market during the war which was not without some sanction by official personalities. Some day, when there is another dispensation, investigations will be made into the extraordinary earnings by public officials, during periods of high taxation, when most Americans can barely put away a dollar.

However, that is not the point of this discussion, which is, rather, that when the United States needs and seeks Allies, its measure must be their value to the United States. We have been led astray from that basic doctrine by the global baloney which is constantly being sliced for us. We are brought back to it by General Douglas MacArthur, who in his testimony said:

"The basic reason for the support that might be rendered to (Chiang Kai-Shek) is.....because the interests of the United States of America coincide with anyone who is opposed to Communism. It doesn't necessarily mean that we approve of everything he says or does. But it does mean that he assists us in our resistance to this world menace; and that any choice between him and Communism would naturally resolve in his favor."

General Douglas MacArthur knows, as does everybody who has worked in this field, that the Acheson-Marshall-Truman policy on Formosa is unrelated to the needs and purposes of the United States but is a defensive measure to protect their vested interest in their own mistakes. That they should so respond to a situation that can ruin their reputations and destroy their political careers is neither unusual nor unnatural.

Yet, the issue is so much bigger than these men, and as General MacArthur has said, it is not dust that is settling on the soil of Korea but the blood of our sons. If Formosa is unnecessary for the defense of the United States, then there can be no reason for quarreling over this issue, but General MacArthur holds:

"A--It is my own personal opinion that the greatest political mistake we made in a hundred years in the Pacific, was in allowing the Communists to grow in power in China.

"I think, at one stroke, we undid everything. Starting from John Hay, through Taft, Leonard Wood, Woodrow Wilson, Henry Stimson, and all those great architects of our Pacific policy. "I believe it was fundamental, and I believe we will pay for it, for a century.

"Q--Well, let us ask the direct question:

"What would you have done --what would you have advised, under the circumstances that existed back there in 1945--what would you have done?"

"A--I would have given such assistance to the Conservative government of China as to have checked the growing tide of Communism.

"A very little help and assistance, in my belief, at that time, would have accomplished that purpose.

"Q--For a good many years you have been acquainted, I take it, with the Russians and with the Communist infiltration.

"Would you have sought to have gotten those two forces together?"

"A--I did not catch the question.

"Q--Would you have sought to have amalgamated the Communies and Nationalists--have gotten them together?"

"A--Just about as much chance as getting them together as that oil and water will mix.

"Q--That was your idea at that time, too, was it not?"

"A--It would be then, and always. The whole history of the world shows that."

Diet and Health

This Is Condition Peculiar to Women

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

The complex nervous and physical symptoms from which so many women suffer just prior to the regular periods is known as premenstrual tension. Symptoms vary from mild depression to more or less severe emotional upsets, and also include, in many instances, pain in the abdomen, headaches, sickness at the stomach and vomiting. In most cases there is painful swelling of the breasts.

It has been suggested that this premenstrual tension is a result of an imbalance between two secretions formed in the body, one known as estrogen, and the other as progesterone. It is thought that the symptoms occur because there is a relative excess of estrogens and not enough progesterone. Hence, treatment consists in correcting this imbalance by giving a substance known as chorionic gonadotropin, which stimulates the secretion of progesterone.

Increased Appetite

One of the striking manifestations in premenstrual tension is increased appetite, a craving for sweets, and trembling of the hands, all due to a decrease in the amount of sugar in the blood.

An excess of estrogen causes fluids to collect in the body tissues. This is probably the cause of the bloating, abdominal pain, sickness at the stomach, and pain in the breasts, as well as the headaches which occur during the premenstrual periods.

Twice a Week

In treating the condition in a group of patients, benefit was obtained by giving injections of the chorionic gonadotropin twice a week for the last two weeks before the menstrual period was expected. The salt in the diet was limited, the patients were given a diet rich in protein foods, such as meat, milk, and eggs, with limited amounts of starchy foods and sweets. In some cases, the patients were also benefited by thyroid extract and the use of B-complex vitamins.

With this treatment, large numbers of patients are benefited, and many obtain complete relief from their difficulty.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. E. S.: If a person becomes negligent with his diet, could it result in an attack of inflammation of the gallbladder?

Answer: It is not clear what is meant by "negligent with his diet." Gallbladder inflammation probably would not result from this cause alone.

Defense Controls Running into Snag

WASHINGTON, May 17—(AP)—The chairman of the Senate banking committee says the Defense Production Act (DPA) and the wage-price controls it authorizes are in danger of "rejection" by Congress.

"I want to warn the administration," Senator Maybank (D-NC) told Price Director Michael V. DiSalle, "I do not know if there is going to be any extension." The present law expires June 30. Maybank's committee is holding hearings on President Truman's request that DPA be extended, broadened and strengthened.

Maybank ordered a closed session today to explore with Secretary of Agriculture Brannan how far he plans to go if Congress does extend the act and grants powers to pay subsidies on farm products to keep consumer prices down.

New Look for Tires

With a Little Effort

AKRON, —(AP)—Passenger car tires that are dirty and dingy after winter and spring driving can be made to look bright and black again in a few minutes.

Only a little effort is required to do the trick, reports the B. F. Goodrich Co. Use a tablespoon of detergent in a pailful of cold water and whip up some suds. After washing the tires with a rag or stiff brush, rinse them well with clear water. Dry with a clean cloth to regain the new look. Avoid using gasoline, kerosene or any other petroleum product.

Charm and Brains Needed By Modern Career Girls

By BETTY CLARKE

Charm is essential to the career girl. So says lovely Jean Sitarski who recently was crowned Miss Civil Service of Ontario, Canada—the result of a contest based on personality and popularity of government employees. Says Jean:

"I think charm counts in business as in any other walk of life. It is being polite, courteous and pleasant as well as putting emphasis on a pleasing personality. If a girl is charming and neat she will never have trouble finding a job or holding it, providing she can do the work."

Jean is not a play girl. She gets eight or nine hours sleep a night in order to keep on her toes at the office the next day. She uses no creams and says she owes her satin-like complexion to soap, water and washcloth. She shampoos her own hair and wears it long so her face "will not look chubby."

She offers these tips to business girls:

Wear nicely tailored suits to the office—don't overdress. A scarf can be worn on a suit and flowers and jewelry transferred to it later for an after-five date.

Medium heeled shoes rather than high heels should be worn not only for comfort but for looks. Makeup shouldn't be applied at the desk. If your nose feels shiny or your face gets smudged it is better to take a few minutes to go to your locker for a patch-up. Skip personal calls—bosses

Dad Can Serve As Baby Sitter

The younger father of today is no longer a displaced person after he has handed out the initial cigars and candy.

More and more he is taking over his share of care of the new baby, and having fun doing it.

Dad's efficiency, of course, is given a real assist by the sterilized bottles of formula stored in the refrigerator, ready to be warmed. Some executive-type Dads even take over the preliminaries, such as mixing the formula and sterilizing the bottles. The latter process has been speeded up recently by acceptance of the hospital-tested terminal method, in which everything used in feeding the baby is sterilized at once.

The new method is as follows: first assemble all equipment needed.

Wash everything thoroughly in a big pan full of hot sudsy water, taking special care to scrub nipples and bottles with their special brushes. Rinse everything well, and put aside to drain.

While bottles are draining, prepare formula. Stir until well mixed, but do not heat. Fill bottles with the required amount of formula; bright blue ounce-markings on the new bottles make it easy to get just the right amount in each. Put a little clear water in the small bottles to be used for orange juice and water feedings. Inverted nipples should be placed on bottles, feeding tips down. Screw on plastic collars, but not too tightly to allow for steam expansion.

Place bottles in sterilizer or pan deep enough so that bottles stand upright, not touching cover, run tepid water into sterilizer up to milk line of bottles. Cover pan tightly, bring water slowly to boil. Time exactly 15 minutes from start of boiling. Thus formula is cooked and all parts sterilized simultaneously.

Cool, dry each bottle and store in refrigerator.

don't like you to waste the time.

Personal conversation should be put at a minimum in the office. Bosses do not like the staff to stand around discussing night-before activities.

Jean, who was awarded a trip to New York City by Canada's Department of Travel and the Ontario Civil Service Association as a reward for winning the contest, doesn't believe in steady dating—not unless you've finally made up your mind that he's the only man in the world.

In the meantime she isn't neglecting learning about her future role as housekeeper. She attends evening classes in cooking, dressmaking and millinery. Says she:

"It's funny that girls are never prepared for that big future business to come—marriage. Personally, I'm going to know how to boil an egg and hang a curtain."

Miniature Writing Is Door to Career

CENTRALIA, Ill.—(AP)—George Borum's son, George, is the youngest graduate auctioneer in the country. At 14, he can duplicate almost all of his father's talents.

In his impressive string of hobbies, the elder Borum has developed the ability of miniature writing, fancy penmanship, card carrying, "flourish" drawing, chalk talk, sketching with both hands simultaneously, copying signatures, wood carving and painting.

He learned auctioneering through rice writing. The head of an auctioneering school sent for an inscribed grain of rice. Borum sent it with a letter expressing interest in the auctioneering trade.

The auctioneer responded with: "Teach me to write on a grain of rice, and I'll teach you auctioneering."

Among television shows to stick through the summer is Lights Out of NBC-TV which announced that development in signing a 52-week sponsor contract extension to be effective July 2. It specializes in dramas of the supernatural.

Cavalade of Stars of DuMont-TV, which started with Jack Carter as MC, then switched to Jerry Lester and now has Jackie Gleason, will begin its third year the first of next month. Formerly Saturday night it was moved to Friday last winter to avoid the competition of other variety shows developed by NBC and CBS. Carter and Lester both now are under contract to NBC.

In its two years on the air, the program has undergone a slow transformation from straight vaudeville into a revue. The show has dance production numbers and sketches with Gleason as the specialist along with the guests.

Charm School In the Nursery

Baby's charm course should begin right in the nursery.

Of course you will not start your little tyke on setting up exercises before she can toddle. But you should teach her little things about grooming that will get to be a habit by routine.

The daily bath, administered in the right fashion, can get to be such a necessary function and delightful experience that your child will accept it as part of her daily routine for the rest of her life.

One mother tells us that she starts at the earliest moment trying to get baby to pick up her washcloth and hold it to her face. Mother says "Of course she can't wash herself. But she will know by holding the cloth up to her face that it is the method she will use some day to keep clean."

The important message for mother to get over to baby is that all of these little beauty and grooming rituals are fun. When she pours lotion on baby, she should make a real game of it; rubbing it in the baby skin saying "ah, isn't that good?" or "doesn't that feel good?" or "what a lucky baby!"

When using lotion on baby you can apply it with little cotton balls working it into the diaper area in every crease and fold of the skin. Use a good gentle soothing lotion that will leave her skin soft and silky.

County-wide High School Topic at Meet

The Concord Township Farm Bureau Advisory Council discussed a suggested county-wide high school Tuesday night, but the members deferred action on either supporting or rejecting the proposed school.

In discussing the proposition of a county high school, it was brought out that the present tax duplicate (all taxable property) of the county amounts to approximately 50 million dollars. Thirty-five million of this is in the rural area and 15 million is in other than the rural areas.

The discussion was in charge of Kenneth Bush. The Advisory Council Guide of the Ohio Farm Bureau for May was used. The entire guide for the month was devoted to schools.

Such topics as, "How Can We Get Better Schools?", "Ohio Farm Bureau Policy On Schools", "We Need More Teachers", "Are Our School Buildings Inadequate?" and "Making Our Schools More Efficient", were all discussed at the meeting.

The council passed a motion recommending to the Concord Board of Education that they were in favor of action being taken by the Concord board to dispose of the one unused school building in that township.

Mrs. Robert Case was named as the home and community member of the council. A meeting of all home and community members was announced for Monday afternoon, June 4, at the Farm Bureau auditorium.

A letter was read from the Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, outlining three Farm Bureau tours, which councils were invited to take. Part of the expense of the tour is to be provided by the local Farm Bureau Cooperative Association and the Ohio Farm Bureau Cooperative Association.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Montgomery were hosts for the meeting.

The next meeting is to be held on June 19 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bush.

He finished his work in the law college at Ohio Northern on March 7, and returns to the university June 3 to receive his diploma.

A number of honorary degrees will be awarded by Dr. F. Bringle McIntosh, university president.

Patrol School Now Under Way

James Cooper Among
New Recruits

The 31st Ohio State Highway Patrol recruit training school opened at the Hartman Farm, south of Columbus, Monday, and James Cooper, formerly employed by the P. J. Burke Monument Co. here, is one of the recruits. The school is being conducted to replace vacancies that now exist in the Highway Patrol. Recruits now in training who successfully complete the course will be immediately appointed to the position of patrolman at the termination of the school. Considered high among the nation's police training courses, the school will be operated for the next ten weeks, during which time the recruits will receive work in general police and patrol problems. This includes administration and procedure, criminal law, traffic control, use of firearms, self defense, swimming and water rescue, first aid, departmental rules and regulations, traffic law enforcement, functions of other governmental agencies and other related police subjects. Corporal D. L. Osborn, officer in charge of the Wilmington patrol post, said today that he has been informed that the next patrol training school will be opened August 13, and has been directed by Col. George Mingle, superintendent, Ohio State Highway Patrol, to interview applicants from Fayette and nearby communities in this area. Corporal Osborn stated that only those applications received during the next few weeks will be processed for the training school in August. Minimum requirements for a new patrolman are: 21 to 35 years of age, American citizenship, five years Ohio residence, high school education or the equivalent, minimum height and weight of 5 feet 8 inches and 155 pounds, respectively. Patrol recruits in training are paid $152.00 per month with uniform, quarters and meals provided by the state. Upon graduation from the training school, patrolmen are paid a beginning salary of $288.00 per month. All uniforms and equipment are furnished. Winegardner Will Give Addresses Attorney Reed M. Winegardner will deliver three high school commencement addresses during the week of May 21. May 22 he will address the graduating class of the Wilkesville High School in Vinton County. May 23 he will speak to the graduating class of the Green Township High School (Shelby County), near Sidney. On May 24 he will deliver the class address at the commencement exercises for the Ross Township High School, in Butler County, near Hamilton. There will be 39 graduates in this group. Winegardner has been giving high school commencement addresses during the past several years and will speak, this year, on the subject "New Horizons". He has practiced law in Washington C. H. during the past 12 years and previously served as an assistant attorney general of Ohio during 1937-38. In 1945, he served as a field director with the American National Red Cross in the European Theatre of Operations, during which time he assisted in processing allied prisoners of war out of former German prison camps and Russian occupied territory.

Eighth Graders Guests of FFA

Eighth graders from schools near Washington C. H. who have made plans to enroll in vocational agriculture at Washington C. H. High School next year were guests of the WHS Future Farmers of America Tuesday night. Recreation got underway at 6:30 P. M. at Baker Field, where the boys enjoyed a game of softball. At 8 P. M. they proceeded to the Roadside Park, where they had a wiener roast. Following this, the FFA members had their regular meeting. It consisted of a business meeting and in introduction of the seven eighth graders who were present. Items of business discussed during the business meeting were the committees for the Fair booth, program of instruction and installation of officers for the coming year. Copyright on a book can be obtained only after it has been published. Safe Drivers And Safe Cars

Official Urges Care
To Cut Accidents

"A safe driver in a safe car means fewer traffic accidents," Police Chief Vaiden Long said in discussing the need of cars which are mechanically safe.

Chief Long said that a large number of traffic accidents in 1950 were the result of unsafe cars.

He also said that since the State Patrol is not cooperating in the check of automobiles this year that the police department will not give the free checking service that it has in previous years.

Regarding traffic accidents the past year, Chief Long pointed to the national figures on fatalities in 1950, which showed that 12 percent of all fatalities involved cars with safety defects.

If the same ratio applies in Ohio 218 deaths and 7,650 injuries might have been prevented had all cars been in safe operating condition.

One third of Ohio cars were inspected in the voluntary car check program carried out by enforcement agencies last year.

One out of every six cars checked had a safety defect. On this basis there may be a half million Ohio cars that do not comply with the law, which prohibits driving on any highway any vehicle "which is in such unsafe condition as to endanger any person."

Almost 43,000 cars were found to have inadequate brakes - unable to stop in 30 feet at 20 miles per hour-a clear violation. The total of cars with lighting defects exceeded 100,000; 41,000 tail-lights; 35,500 stop-lights and 26,600 head lamps.

Traffic in every community will increase for the next couple months, hitting the peak around July 4. The accident curve will follow the increase in traffic, but casualties may not reach the crest until the Labor Day weekend.

"The next few weeks is an ideal time to have your favorite mechanic go over your car thoroughly and safety-ize it for the summer motoring," Chief Long said.

"Have him see that your brakes stop the car in the prescribed distance; that the hand brake will hold the car on a hill. You may not need lights much in your summer driving-but you want them when you need them. Before starting a trip in the late afternoon, check the lights to see that they are okay for the return trip, in the dark. Wipe the head-

VFW Buddy Poppy Sale Set Here

JUDGE RELL G. ALLEN, probate judge of Fayette County and a charter member of the O. E. Hardway Post No. 3762, Veterans of Foreign Wars, buys the first poppy to be sold in the 1951 Buddy Poppy sale here. Mary Lu Biehn (right) pins on the poppy while Donald E. Fowler, chairman of the Buddy Poppy committee, looks on.

Pin on a VFW poppy next Friday and Saturday and you will help needy veterans, some from Fayette County.

You will have a chance on those two days, for the auxiliary of the O. E. Hardway Post No. 3762 will be on downtown streets selling the poppies.

The unusual feature of the sale is that the poppies are made by disabled veterans. Proceeds of the sale are used to give assistance to needy veterans and their families.

Some of the money will go to buy crutches, wheel chairs and hospital beds for the books, tobacco and to pay for other forms of entertainment for hospitalized veterans in Veteran Administration hospitals.

In charge of the sale in Washington C. H. is Mrs. Don G. Hilde.

Clover Bell's 4-H Discuss Projects

Members of the Clover Bell's 4-H Club heard a talk on teenage clothes by Mrs. Gilbert Bidle at their regular meeting Friday evening. The meeting was held in the home of Phyllis Barney.

Following the business meeting, a short Mother's Day program was given by some of the members of the group.

Rita Frederick, Nancy Barton and Janice Denen sang a song about Mother's Day and Mrs. Lee Cleland, club advisor, and her daughter Gloria gave a couple of recitations.

Prizes were given to winners of National Buddy Poppy headquarters pointed out that the Poppy Day sale helps the disabled veteran who is a victim of inflation. The headquarters claim that many veterans are too disabled to find jobs that will supplement their pension checks, which are the same as they were when the GI Bill of Rights was adopted in 1944.

Sewing Basket Club Plans Bake Sale

A bake and food sale was planned by the members of the Sewing Basket 4-H Club, at their meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Annette Cline.

The sale will be held in the City Savings and Loan Company office on Court Street, Saturday, May 19. It will begin at 9:30 A. M.

Money received from this sale will go help pay the members' way to camp this summer.

Shirley Rumer, Mary Ella Dodds, Annette Cline and Barbara Sells were appointed to make posters announcing the bake sale. Joyce Bandy was selected to distribute the posters.

Members of the group continued sewing on their sport dresses, which are the projects now being made by the members.

Following the meeting, the members were served refreshments by the hostess, who was assisted by her mother. The members also played games during the recreation period.

Next meeting of the club is planned for Wednesday, May 26, at the home of Carolyn Christie. All the members are asked to take their projects with them to the meeting so they can work on them.

What Is Chance in Korea War? Figures Given by Rep. Brown

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
General Marshall last week led off the pro-administration witnesses before the special Senate committee created to investigate General MacArthur's dismissal and look into our foreign and military policies in the Far Pacific. Marshall admitted MacArthur had followed all military orders and instructions to the letter, but charged he had failed to clear his statements and speeches on foreign policies with the administration, as instructed. Marshall argued MacArthur's military proposals might spread the Korean conflict into World War Three, but had no plan to end the present stalemate in Korea except to kill more Reds.

President Truman took advantage of a Washington meeting of Civilian Defense officials from over the country, presumably in attendance at public expense, to attack the MacArthur proposals and to express his own views on the Korean situation. Every effort is being made to convince the public Gen. MacArthur, and those who support him, want a war against China on the mainland of Asia, although MacArthur has never proposed sending American ground troops into China.

American casualties in Korea have now reached an official total of nearly 70,000. Total casualties of all the other United Nations forces, outside of the South Koreans, are about one-twelfth of those suffered by American forces. Certainly such figures indicate we are already at war with China—at least in Korea.

As predicted in this column some time ago, the president has named a new 18-man Wage Stabilization Board which many observers believe will be influenced, if not controlled, by organized labor. It is common talk here that the new board will assume jurisdiction over practically all labor disputes, thus circumventing or evading the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act, contrary to the intent of Congress. At a propitious time the attorney general is expected to rule the Wage Stabilization Board has legal authority to handle all labor disputes and questions, if remotely connected with defense production activities.

It now appears certain that President Truman will not get many—if any—of the additional powers and authorities over the national economy he has requested in extension of the Defense Production or Controls Act. Hearings are already under way on extending the life of the Defense Production Act, which otherwise expires on June 30. There is such a growing opposition to the administration's whole production and price control program that the present Defense Production Act may only be extended for 90 days or so.

There is a rather well defined rumor floating around that Dean Acheson will step out as secretary of state next month, to be succeeded by John Foster Dulles, former Republican senator from New York and Iowa a top-flight assistant to Acheson, who was also formerly foreign affairs advisor to Gov. Dewey of New York.

A recent speech in the British Parliament by Prime Minister Attlee, in which he said that the sale and shipment of strategic war materials to Russia and Red China from the British Empire were "in accord with American policies" has created considerable comment on Capitol Hill. It is hard to believe our government would agree to such a British program of selling strategic supplies which may be used against United Nations forces in Korea. Incidentally, Attlee and his British-Socialist government, which has preached and practiced nationalization of industry in Great Britain, are now worried over the Iranian government nationalizing British oil holdings in Iran, and the Chinese nationalizing British-owned oil interests in China.

The ways and means committee last week started voting on proposed amendments to increase the tax revenues of the federal government. It is reported the committee has tentatively agreed to provide for the imposition of a 20 percent withholding tax on dividends paid by corporations and co-operatives. Also that it has rejected an amendment to increase the capital gains tax from the present 25 percent to 37 1/2 percent. It now appears likely the new tax bill, which will not become effective before October 1, and perhaps not until next January 1, will bring in only about $7 billion new revenues instead of the $16 1/2 billion originally requested by President Truman.

What does the war in Korea mean to 19-year-olds subject to the draft? One out of each five reaching 19 will be drafted into the army. If so, he has one chance in six of being sent to Korea, where he will have one chance in two of seeing combat, one chance in seven of being wounded if he remains there a year, and one chance out of 26 of being killed. If he voluntarily enlists in the Air Forces he has one chance in 15 of being sent to Korea, one chance in 15 of seeing combat duty, one chance in 1818 of being wounded, and one chance in 370 of being killed. If he enlists in the Marine Corps he has one chance in three of being sent to Korea, four chances out of five of seeing combat, one chance out of three of being wounded, and one chance out of 29 of being killed. If he enlists in the navy he has one chance in 13 of being sent to the waters around Korea, one chance in 20 of engaging in combat, one chance in 108 of being wounded, and one chance in 666 of being killed.

Bandit Gangs Menace Eritrea

Five-year Scourge
Hampers Freedom

By OSCAR RAMPONE
ASMARA, Eritrea, May 17 —(AP)—The dreaded Shiftas (bandits) of Eritrea are a major obstacle on the road to stable government marked out by the United Nations for this former Italian colony.

The UN assembly decided that Eritrea shall be united to neighboring Ethiopia under a federal government, with the former colony retaining a great deal of autonomy.

Observers here, however, feel UN Commissioner Eduardo Matienzo may be hard put to complete his task of preparing Eritrea for self-government and its new status by Sept. 15, 1952 -- the deadline set by UN -- under the present conditions of instability and fear.

(The Ethiopian government has charged that continued bandit activity in Eritrea is caused by "certain elements" and their "foreign instigators.")

(This charge followed published reports (not AP) quoting UN Commissioner Matienzo as saying "it would be impossible to transfer power to Eritreans as long as pro-Ethiopian Shiftas were not eliminated.")

Five-year Scourge

The Shiftas have scourged the country for the last five years, despite repeated campaigns by the British administration. Reports of Shifta raids against Eritrean and Italian farms, of assassinations, robberies and holdups have become a daily routine.

This has brought Eritrea's economic life to a virtual standstill. Official figures show that last year 260 Eritreans and 19 Italians were killed by Shiftas. About 20,000 cattle were stolen and many farms burned and ravaged.

Farmers have deserted their estates. Out of 500 Italian farms scattered over 12,000 acres of land, in 1948, only 30 have survived. These have been transformed into fortresses, equipped with machineguns, armored cars and searchlights to repulse the Shiftas' frequent raids.

The campaign against the bandits is being carried out by two British battalions in cooperation with an Eritrean police force of 1,200 men. Although some success has been achieved, complete eradication of the Shiftas still seems remote.

The bandits hit-and-run retreating to rugged regions where pursuit is difficult.

Eritrean peasants fearing reprisals are reluctant to give information. In some cases, farmers were compelled to hide bandits pursued by police.

The British divisional officer, H. G. Peacocke, recently warned Eritrean district chiefs that he was determined "to impose collective penalties for harboring Shiftas." He added "if necessary, entire districts shall be fined and cattle and property confiscated."

Some quarters, including a number of Italians, have suggested a general amnesty for Shiftas who would lay down their arms and return to normal life. This proposal was supported by "Ethiopia," official newspaper of the patriotic association which advocates union with Ethiopia.

Chinese Hospitals Face Red Menace

HONG KONG —(AP)— This is what happened to 35-American-financed hospitals in Communist China since the Reds on Jan. 1 ordered them "liberated from imperialist influences."

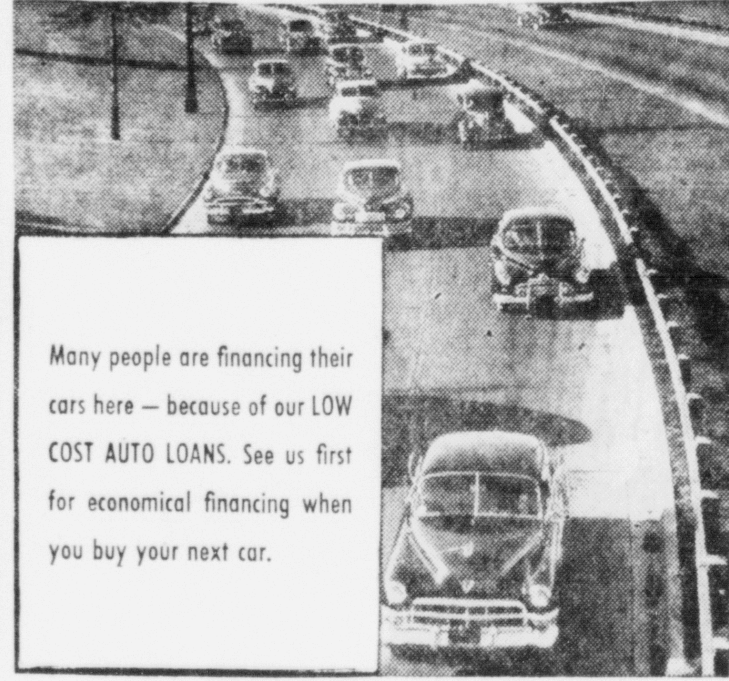

Three were taken over by the Reds; 24 more "requested" the government to operate them. Three asked joint operation by government and private sponsors. Three have been approved for independent operation. Two are sitting tight and have made no requests.

In most, but not all cases the American subsidies have been cut off. The Communists, have sought to gain control of the institutions without losing the money, if possible, but insist on control even though it means loss of revenue.

Softball Opener Here Now Set for Friday Evening

Softball leaders here, headed by District Commissioner Max Lawrence, today were making plans for another try at pulling back the curtain on the season for Washington C. H. and the surrounding community Friday night.

Plans for the opening last Friday night were rained and shivered out.

Special emphasis is being placed on the opening this year, because it could mean that the annual state softball tournament in August could be held here.

The turnout at the game and the enthusiasm will be among the determining factors, Lawrence said. State Commissioner Nick Barrack is slated to come here from Columbus to look over the city's hotel and restaurant accommodations as well as check on the spirit behind the sport.

THE ROCKING CHAIR Inn team is to meet Curly Trailers from Springfield in the main event on the diamond at Wilson Field.

The Rocking Chair boys have the only team in Washington C. H. ready to go. This was brought out at the softball meeting Tuesday night when they volunteered to play in the feature game.

The Rocking Chairs, one of the eight teams listed for the city league this summer, have been getting in enough practice to make a good showing, they believe.

The Springfield team was rated by Lawrence as "one of the real good outfits in this section". He predicted a good game as he said: "They've got a couple of tough pitchers... awful tough... in Johnny Love and Fred Tarboro".

The lineup for the Rocking Chairs has not been given out, but indications were that it would be built around the team that gave such a good account of itself last season.

There are a lot of "ifs" tacked on Friday night's game, and they are all considered important.

If the crowd is good, if the sportsmanship is clean, if the seating capacity is adequate (or can be expanded to meet needs) and if the hotel and restaurant accommodations are sufficient—then the big state tournament may be held here.

And, if the tournament is held here, it will bring hundreds of fans and players to Washington C. H. from all over Ohio for the three-day event.

Horses Stampede But They Escape Blue Bonnets Fire

MONTREAL, May 17—(AP)—Hundreds of race horses stampeded about a flame-lit enclosure last night and several broke loose into a crowded street as a fire gutted a $50,000 barn at Blue Bonnets race track. From 12 to 15 valuable horses died.

However, most of the 700 U. S. and Canadian horses here for the track opening Friday escaped injury. Only minor burns were suffered by persons on the scene.

Track officials said the opening will not be delayed.

Big Field Tees Off In California Open

DEL MAR, Calif., May 17—(AP)—An unwieldy field of more than 250 golfers set out today in the first round of the $4,000 California open championship, with Lloyd Mangrum favored to wind up on top when the final round is shot Sunday.

Play is over the Rancho Santa Fe Country Club course, which measures 6,800 yards and has a par of 36-36-72.

Reds Catch Fire! Braves Beaten

National League Race Tightened

By JACK HAND
(By The Associated Press)
Six victories in seven games have made the Cincinnati Reds the hottest team in the National League over the past few days.

So tight is the National League race that the Cincinnati splurge has served mainly to close a gap until the Reds now are within 2½ games of first place but they're only tied for fifth in the league.

They had to rally for three runs in the eighth inning yesterday to eke out a 4 to 3 victory over the Boston Braves.

Yesterday Herman Wehmeier and Johnny Sain had given up only four safe blows through five innings.

Then the roof caved in on Wehmeier. Home runs by Bob Elliott and Willard Marshall were sandwiched around a walk for three Boston runs. The Redlegs came back in the eighth to score three runs on four hits, the payoff walk being Joe Adcock's single which drove in the winning and tying runs.

JIMMY DYKES has lit a fire under big Gus Zernial. The slumbering giant is on a record-tying home run rampage.

With six homers in three consecutive games, old "Ozark Ike" goes into the little red book in such exclusive company as Tony Lazzeri and Ralph Kiner. And he hasn't stopped yet.

For years the Chicago White Sox did everything but stick pins into Zernial's hide. Nothing much happened.

A three-way swap involving the A's, White Sox and Indians sent bench-riding Gus to Philadelphia April 30.

At Chicago, Zernial was hitting .105 and not playing. He had two hits opening day and none since. No home runs. With the A's he's hitting at a .366 clip to bring his season mark around .283.

The home run spurt started Sunday when the A's dumped the Yankees twice. Gus connected twice in the second game. He hit two more Tuesday night against St. Louis. Then came another pair last night off the Browns.

So he has six for the season, all in the last three games. If he hits another pair tonight against St. Louis he'll break an American League record.

No. 5 came off Cliff Fannin in the second inning and No. 6 off Duane Pillette in the fifth. Still the A's lost the ball game, 10-9. And tumbled into the American League cellar.

FERRIS FAIN continued his batting surge with three hits, boosting his average to .402 and Lou Klein, former Cleveland infielder, hit his first home run for the A's.

Vic Raschi set a new season high with 10 strikeouts in the New York Yankees 11-3 romp over Cleveland. It was the Yank's ninth straight at the stadium where they have yet to lose.

Mickey Mantle drove home runs with his first Yankee Stadium homer and fourth of the year.

The surprising Chicago White Sox knocked off the Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park for the second day in a row, 9-5. Walt Dropo hit homers in the second and third to drive in four Boston runs.

Detroit kept step with Chicago, tied for second place, two and a half games out, by whipping Washington, 7-1. Dizzy Trout allowed only four hits.

HISTORIANS were searching the records to see if the National League ever was only three games from top to bottom after a month of play. Only three games separate the last-place Phillies from

Ceremonies Planned For Sabina Opening

They're getting ready to open the softball season at Sabina with a lot of fanfare and action on the diamond Friday night.

Besides the softball games—there will be two of them—there will be the solemn ceremonies of rededication of Memorial Park by officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

George L. Fetter, the state VFW adjutant quartermaster, is to be there to make the rededication speech and Commander Alvin Moore of the Sabina VFW post is to read the ritualistic service. Rev. Ray Huff, pastor of the Methodist Church, is to offer prayer.

The park is a memorial to the men of the community who served and gave their lives for their country in war.

The excitement is to start after Mayor Robert Nunn of Sabina, pitches out the first ball with appropriate gestures.

The evening's softball game is to open with a preliminary game at 7 P. M., between the McPherson & Huff Tool Co. team and the outfit from the Mechanics Tool & Forge Co.

The main go is slated for 8:30 P. M., when the Sabina VFW takes the field against the NCR crew from Dayton.

The affair is to get under way before sundown, but the lights will have to be turned on before it is all over.

OSU Leading Big 'Ten Race'

CHICAGO, May 17—(AP)—Ohio State leads the Big Ten baseball race with six victories and no defeats and powerful batting appears to be the big reason.

The Buckeyes, through games of May 12, were hitting .316 as a team. Conference spokesmen said this was one of the highest marks in history.

Bob Montebello, Ohio State third baseman, batting .458, was the conference's top hitter. Other Buckeye individual percentages: Howard Moran, .444; Jack Gammon, .400; Elbert Gutzwiller, .346; Jack Jones, .316, and Stewart Hein and Dave Leonard .308 each.

WEDNESDAY'S STARS
Batting—Gus Zernial, Athletics, tied major league record by hitting sixth homer in three consecutive games with two for A's who lost to St. Louis, 10-9.
Pitching—Vic Raschi, Yankees, struck out 10 for new major league high in 1951 in whipping Cleveland, 11-3.

The St. Louis Browns have been in the American League since 1902 but have won only one pennant. That happened in 1944.

Lions Defeated By Red Raiders

Victory Revenge For London Team

That one bad inning that has plagued the WHS Lion baseball team in nearly every game this season was their undoing again Wednesday afternoon at London when the Red Raiders pinned their ears back with an 8 to 4 defeat.

The victory brought revenge to the Raiders, for they had been shut out 7-0, at the start of the season here when Kenny Robinett and Ivan Blair teamed up for a no-hitter.

The Lions did all right except for a wild and woolly fifth inning when the Raiders pushed across 5 runs on three hits, including a triple by Bopely, walks and two of the Lions three errors.

That was enough to beat the Lions, but the Raiders already had scored two runs in the previous inning and they added another in the next just to put the game on ice.

The Lions got plenty of hits but they just could not get them at the right time and make them count. Although they were credited with 14 safeties, they netted only four runs—even with the six Raider errors.

Play of the Lions in the field was tighter than it has been, but the bobbles they did make were costly as the Londoners made 6 hits good for 8 runs.

Robinett and Blair shared the pitcher's mound and first base. Robinett fanned two but his control was good. Blair gave up four bases on balls and struck out four.

Ten of the Lions went down on strikes and six of them got bases on balls.

One more game remains for the Lions this season. They go to Frankfort Friday afternoon. They beat the Frankfort boys here just before they went to the district tournament.

Joe Page Back To the Minors

NEW YORK, May 17—(AP)—Joe Page's return to the minors was the most dramatic move in the last day scramble by major league ball clubs to cut down to the 25-man limit.

Page, the famous "Fireman Joe" of the 1947 and 1949 New York Yankee champions, at least has a job and a salary in the $25,000 bracket. He goes to Kansas City to work out the kinks in his arm.

Jack Kramer, another big name of the past in the American League, was given his unconditional release by the New York Giants. The 33-year-old right-hander is free to make his own connection.

But most of the players to go were rookies. Fellows like Steve Bilko, the St. Louis Cards bulging first baseman, who is back for another year on the farm—Columbus of the American Association this time.

All 16 clubs waived on Page who hasn't pitched an inning all year.

Rams Signs Daytonian

LOS ANGELES, May 17—(AP)—Tackle Herome Vander Horst of Dayton, yesterday was signed by the Los Angeles Rams football club. The 240-pounder starred at the University of Dayton the last two years.

Meeting Discussed By Merry Makers

In order to have a better understanding of the proper way to conduct a meeting, the members of the Eber Merry-makers 4-H club plan to have each member preside at one meeting during the year.

The idea was decided on during the meeting of the club Wednesday evening at Eber School following a discussion by the club's president, Ludene Torbett, and Reporter Betty Howard on the recent 4-H club officers meeting at the Farm Bureau.

Marilyn Parrett was selected to conduct the next meeting of the Merry-makers.

Selection of patterns and type of material for the members dresses was discussed during the meeting. The smaller members are to get their sewing baskets and material for the project and the older members are to select their patterns and material for their dresses.

During the recreation period, members were given instruction on the Virginia reel dance.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

AN EARLY fall dusk, made deeper by the drizzling rain, shrouded Manhattan as McGann turned in at the apartment building. His gaze slipped down the row of bells and tiny jewels slid from his hat brim. One spattered on the forefinger pressing the button opposite K. ROGERS.

McGann wiped it on his coat and felt the notebook in the inner pocket. The last entry on its pages was a report from the chemist.
The jar with the scratched top had contained coffee, period. That meant nothing had been added to the pot itself.

The ring in the cup also had failed to produce anything extra.
But the second jar, with the sample from the other cup, had shown a strong trace of morphine. Assuming that Shirley Stanton had been deliberately poisoned, the murderer had slipped the lethal dose directly into her cup.

Seconds ticked by. If Kathie with the light blue hair answered, McGann could begin to feel that he was chalking up something in the way of progress.

He pressed the button again and leaped for the clicking door on his right.

The foyer bell had said 2D. Mc-Gann elected to skip the automatic elevator and risk the exertion.
When he reached the second floor landing he looked about but no door had opened in welcome. He walked along slowly, found 2C, 2B, and retraced his steps. The door to the apartment of ex-Mrs.
Ronnie Tompkins No. 5 was closed.

McGann knocked. After a moment a voice close against the panel said, "Who?"

The detective put his face close to the door. "Mack McGann," he said. "I met you Saturday night.
I'd like to talk to you."

Silence followed, apparently while this information was considered. A dog yelped in an apartment down the hall. Then the lock of 2D turned and the door slowly opened a few inches. A chain stopped it. McGann shoved back his hat so that the hall light could hit his face and waited patiently for the painstaking perusal.

The door closed again and he heard the chain being slipped back.
Then it swung wide and Kathleen Rogers retreated rigidly in the dim light, her arms stiffly at her sides, fists clenched.

McGann advanced slowly. She was ghostlike in a dead-white hostess gown. When she stopped in the center of the living room, still facing him, he saw that she was wearing blue-rimmed glasses the exact color of the locks which clustered about her head.

Her voice trembled. "I heard about it. On the radio. I have let no one else in all day."

He said, "You mean Shirley Stanton?" Then, "Who else tried to see you?"

The shoulders moved under the white gown. "I couldn't be sure.

That's why I wouldn't open the door. When I asked who was there, they wouldn't answer."

McGann tried an encouraging smile. "Maybe it was the Fuller Brush man," he said. "Their first rule is never to identify themselves through closed doors."

She gestured toward a wide window-sill above a recessed radiator.
"Why don't you put your hat there? It will dry a bit." She didn't mention his coat. He put the hat at the spot indicated and sat down after she poised on the edge of a chair, hands clasped tightly in her lap.

"What . . . what was it you wanted to talk about?"

"You," McGann said. "But now
I see it really isn't necessary."

"How do you mean?"

"I wanted to warn you of your danger but you seem fully aware of it." He smiled reassuringly. "I don't mean that there's anything of extra special concern. Only, living here you were in position to see something important—something which someone might not want repeated."

Light glinted from the glasses turned toward him. The full orange mouth turned down at the corners.
"I'm sorry for the way I spoke to you the other night," Kathleen Rogers said. "You . . . you took me by surprise."

"You did the same to Shirley Stanton."

"Oh . . . that was wicked of me.
I know it now. But actually seeing her made something explode inside me. She . . ."

"You disliked her more than you did the others?"

"She stole Ronnie from me. No
—don't smile. I really loved him for himself alone and I knew him better than any of the others' as you say. Regardless of his eccentricities, Ronnie was social and appreciated his own class more than people might have thought."

She leaned forward as if eager to convince him. "He married showgirls and waitresses as gestures of defiance—he had those emotionally immature impulses—but when he married me, it was as if he had come home at long last.
I know that we would have been happy together forever, if only . . ."

"I saw you at the fight camp yesterday," McGann said.

Her pale hand stopped in mid-air. "Ah." Then, "I realized, after thinking it over, how gauche my accusation of Miss Stanton had been. I took the opportunity on a drive to stop by and apologize."

"How did she receive it?"

Kathleen Rogers shook her head.
"I didn't see her . . . and I couldn't muster courage to ask further."

She sighed. "One always thinks there will be another time."

"Mind telling me who you were with?"

"As a matter of fact, I think I would. He has nothing to do with that unfortunate phase of my life.
I wouldn't want him involved."

"He's—umm—social, too?"

Tougher Policy With Aid Likely

Americans Gouged
By Countries Helped

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, May 17 —(AP)—Three of the world's high-flying commodities -- rubber, tin and wool--have taken a price tumble. But all are still well above their pre-Korea levels. And Economic Stabilizer Johnston, asked by a senator what he planned to do "to stop the gouging of the United States by the people we are helping," says we may have to "get a little tough."

Uncle Sam got much of the blame for sending the prices of these imported commodities skyrocketing by his announced stockpiling policy: "we must out-buy the Reds." Given the green light by that, rubber plants in Malaya, tin miners in the Far East, wool growers in Australia fattened on the world buying spree that followed.

Then Uncle Sam announced his stockpiling program was near enough completed that he didn't need to pay ridiculous prices. Stockpiling halted. With one of the chief buying props pulled out from under them, tin, wool and rubber prices began to fall.

Price Comparisons
Here is how their price curves look:

Tin sold in New York at 76 cents a pound when the Korean war started. It hit a price peak of $1.84 late in January, a jump of 140 percent. Since stockpile buying stopped, tin has dropped 24 percent and is now officially priced at $1.39 a pound.

Rubber sold at 28.6 cents a pound before Korea. It soared to 81 cents by March 24, a jump of 183 percent. Then the United States said its stockpile was about full. The official price here, set by the government which is the sole importer and seller, is now 66 cents, down 19 percent. But in Singapore, where they're jittery about it, the price has dropped 31 percent to around 56 cents a pound.

Wool of the popular grade, sold in Boston at $1.76 a pound before Korea. Realization that larger military forces would need large quantities of woolen uniforms coupled with an United States plan to stockpile raw wool sent the price to a peak in March of $3.80 a pound, a jump of 116 percent. March 14 the United States announced its raw wool stockpiling plan "will be suspended until further notice." In Boston the wool is now nominally quoted at $3.10 down 18 percent from the peak, and lower than the ceiling price of $3.35 announced by the government.

Still at Pre-Korea Level

All three are still well above their pre-Korea levels: tin up 81 percent, wool up 76 percent, and rubber up 131 percent.

American stockpiling policies weren't the only thing that sent prices up and down. There was a world-wide scramble to buy tin after the Korean war started. And the record high prices brought some marginal tin mines into production in other parts of the world, helping to increase supplies. The U. S. government took over all buying from foreign sources and all selling to domestic users here, and cut back sharply the amounts they could use for civilian goods, thus helping to control demand.

Rubber was also sought by many countries beside the United States. Wool is still in the strongest price situation of the three. It was on an uphill price road before Korea, because world demand for fine apparel grades exceeds world production. Military demands since Korea coupled with the desire of several nations to lay in stockpiles against the threat of war sent the price to record peaks.

Armed Forces Cut

strong price and rent controls and for higher taxes.

"Never was there a time when the right decision were more necessary than at this time," he said. He said "the hardest thing in the world to find are the real facts," while "the easiest thing in the world to do is to garble and confuse the facts."

In Fightin' Mood
In a manner reminiscent of his 1948 "give-em-hell" reelection campaign, the president snapped: "There's a great deal of that going on in the country right now."

Even in departing from his text, the president did not refer to Senator Taft by name. In his prepared speech Mr. Truman hung an "invitation-to-war" tag on the Ohio senator's proposal to reduce the armed forces' manpower goal by 500,000 men.

If Congress should permit the defense program to "get snarled up, or delayed, or slashed, we would be courting disaster," Mr. Truman said in a speech prepared for the national conference on citizenship meeting at a local (Statler) hotel.

The president denounced "pen-

Mercury Hits Peak Of 87 Wednesday

Temperatures soared to 87 here Wednesday afternoon, and the summer heat resulted in a general discarding of surplus clothing.

The low point Wednesday night was 53 degrees and at 8 A. M. Thursday the mercury was climbing once more and was at 62 degrees, with indication that Wednesday's peak might be duplicated.

The hot weather resulted in increased activity on the farm where farmers are busily engaged in preparing their ground and planting corn.

Mrs. Annetta Hearn
Rites To Be Held

Funeral services for Mrs. Annetta Hearn, 78, who died Tuesday at the Winters Nursing Home in Washington C. H. after a three months illness, will be held at the Snyder Funeral Home in Mt. Sterling at 2 P. M. Friday. Rev. Guy Tucker, pastor of the Bloomington Methodist Church, will be in charge.

Mrs. Hearn leaves a brother, Joseph Willis of Chillicothe, and a son Roy at the Springfield Masonic Home. Her husband preceded her in death three years ago.

Friends may call at the funeral home at anytime. Burial will be made in the Madison Mills Cemetery.

ny-pinching" on foreign aid, and accused some of his opponents of "playing politics" at a time of "very real" danger of war with Russia.

He also called on the people to counter "special interest" lobbies by urging their congressmen to support higher taxes, and stronger price, rent and wage controls.

Plea for Controls

Declaring that unless existing controls, due to expire June 30, are extended and strengthened "the cost of living will go through the roof," Mr. Truman said:

"The special interests and the lobbies will wreck this stabilization program, as sure as you're born, unless the main body of the citizens of this country get busy and do something about it."

Mr. Truman did not mention Senator Taft by name but he left no doubt he had the Ohioan in mind when he told the conference:

"A suggestion was made by one senator the other day that we ought to cut down the goal of our armed forces by half a million men. At a time like this, such a cut would be very foolish."

"Slashing the size of our armed forces would not be an economy, it would be an invitation to war," Taft told a U. S. Chamber of Commerce meeting here April 30 that the administration's goal of a 3,500,000-member armed force should be cut by 500,000 since he said it would be too big for the economy to support indefinitely.

Outlook for Beef

to watch developments in cattle marketing and production closely during the months ahead."

Long-range Outlook
The secretary explained that when the long-range price prospects for cattle are favorable, farmers tend to hold back more cattle for breeding purposes and herd expansion. In other words, the number of cattle sold for beef

The Old Home Town

By Stanley

is below the rate of production at any one time.

But when future prospects turn less favorable, cattlemen tend to sell off more than their current rate of production. This has the effect of swelling beef supplies above the actual rate of cattle production, with a consequent reduction of cattle numbers and smaller beef supplies later on.

Under the rollback, cattle prices by fall would be down about 19 percent from recent levels.

Brannan emphasized, however, that there are other factors which help control meat production, including supplies and prices of livestock feed grains.

The administration meanwhile plowed on in the economic controls fields while keeping one eye cocked at storm clouds gathering over Capitol Hill.

Controls Confused

With the present defense act due to expire June 30, and several congressmen declaring they'll balk at the broader control powers asked by President Truman, defense agencies:

1. Planned further cuts in production of 57 civilian goods, including passenger cars, starting July 1.

2. Ruled retail prices of automobiles must be reduced May 22 to allow for the absence of spare tires and tubes as standard equipment.

3. Directed manufacturers of cotton yarns and textiles to compute new ceiling prices effective May 28.

4. Ordered a nationwide inquiry into reports of illegal livestock slaughtering.

5. Laid down a formula for figuring ceiling prices for soybeans at the farm level.

Funeral To Be Friday

Mrs. Cora Figgins, who died in a Gallop hospital Wednesday, are to be held at 2 P. M. Friday in the Methodist Church in Buena Vista.

Rev. I. F. Lee, pastor of the Methodist Church in Hillsboro, is to conduct the services.

Interment is to be in the White Oak Church Cemetery under the direction of the Murry Funeral Home of Greenfield.

Friends may call at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Lee in Buena Vista until noon Friday.

General Florence Dies in Columbus

Brigadier General George Florence, former adjutant general of Ohio, died in Mt. Carmel Hospital, Wednesday, following a three years' illness.

General Florence was well known to former National Guard officers and men in this community, as well as throughout the state. He was a veteran of the Spanish American War and World War I.

Gen. Florence also was a trustee of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society for 25 years, retiring last year on account of ill health.

During the first World War he served as a lieutenant colonel of the 166th Infantry Regiment, 42nd (Rainbow) Division, and was in the Ohio National Guard 25 years. He was a native of Pickaway County and operated the Florence Farms near Circleville.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Edna Florence, and a sister, Miss Anna B. Florence, of Columbus.

Friends may call at the Schoedinger Funeral Home, 229 East State Street, Columbus.

Building Permit Law Is Enforced

City Manager W. W. Hill said Thursday that the law requiring property owners to obtain a permit before building or starting to remodel, is to be enforced.

A number of persons recently have started building or changing their property without first obtaining a city permit.

If necessary to file charges in such cases, this will be done, Hill indicated.

Rain in Southwest

In action in western Kansas where downpours sent creeks and rivers over their banks.

Children Rescued

Eleven children were rescued from their school bus last night near Clinton, Okla. Flood waters trapped the vehicle on a country road. Three Clinton firemen helped the children and bus driver to safety. Water was as high as the bus' radiator at the time.

Two youngsters -- David Ramer and Tommy Basket -- left the bus earlier in knee-high water and have not been located. They waded to a farmhouse seeking a telephone.

Another school bus may be stranded in flooded countryside near Arapaho. The Oklahoma highway patrol said the bus with 25 pupils had not been heard from since yesterday afternoon.

Automobiles were stranded at many points in western Oklahoma. The rains were beneficial to some farm areas.

Texas Agricultural Commissioner John C. White called it "a cotton rain--a pasture rejuvenating rain." He said the state's 11,000,000-acre cotton planting goal was practically assured.

In the Texas Panhandle, almost a foot of rain was reported by some towns.
